1921 High Relief

Struck in the final days of December 1921, the first-year Peace dollar was the first and only coin in the series struck in high relief (with the design elements rising well above the coin's surface). The relief was lowered the following year due to problems in striking.

In 2021, special collector issues were released in 99.9% pure silver to honor the series' 100th anniversary. These coins will be struck in additional years at the mint's discretion. They were not issued in 2022.
